got this in the email from a friend:

  saw Sun Ra once at the long gone famous jazz club Keystone San Francisco in North Beach back in the fall of 1974. There were less people in the audience than on the stage. But that did not deter the great Sun Ra. They blew the roof off the joint. A true living room concert that included the whole band doing a snake dance while playing through the club out onto the street back through the club. Sun Ra stopped in front of each person in the audience and sang a line or two. Wow. The band included dancers, and great music while the film "Space is the Place" was projected onto a screen. This is the stuff legends are made of.
